1. Traditional vaccines such as Hep B, whooping cough
2. AstraZeneca Covid vaccine
3. Pfizer/BioNTech, Moderna Covid vaccines

The TGA has recently granted Pfizer and AstraZeneca exemption from liability for their experimental vaccines. This means you cannot sue them directly for any adverse reaction, or death that may occur from their product.

Notice of Liability & Potential Claims letters were served on government ministers November & December 2020

“Key decision makers in Australian governments and the public service have enormous conflicts of interests relating to vaccine companies and other medical manufacturers and suppliers, influencing their decisions. They are also being influenced by global players and global policy instead of the Australian people who elected them. Covid19 has been used as a cover to bring about police states and financially benefit vaccine companies as well as those who with vested interests in vaccine companies and controlling populations.”
